Above Gallery is introducing a Drive-thru service as a way to show and sell artwork in person in a safe way, starting late April from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m.

– Art is best experienced in person, according to Anders Kumlien at Above Gallery. It is possible to experience art online as well, but you will now also be able to see Swedish contemporary art in person in a way adjusted accordingly to the ongoing COVID-19 pandemic. With us, one will be able to see, experience, and purchase artwork without getting out of one's car.
– More and more people are purchasing art through digital measures, but the need to get to experience a work of art in person will always remain, and may be present now more than ever. With this venture, we want to show that art is able to be experienced in person again – in a safe and fun way, Anders continues.

The gallery is open as usual but we hope for this additional service to be an appreciated new part of our current everyday life. Our Drive-thru service will commence the 22nd of April, between 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. The same times of day apply every Tuesday through Friday throughout April and May.

How it works: Visit our website, abovegallery.se, and browse through hundreds of modern works by more than forty Swedish artists. If you find something you would like to see in person before deciding on purchasing it, contact us so we can set up a time to meet with you outside our gallery at Sigtunagatan 7, where we will show you the artwork whilst you remain seated in your car. If you like what you see, the affair will conclude with a new piece of art delivered directly to the boot of your car. More about how it works

Above Gallery is a gallery for Swedish contemporary art. We showcase works by over forty Swedish artists. The gallery is home to graphic prints and photos by some of Sweden's most established artists, as well as young new talents, and many in between. We showcase art through very limited editions, for a more unique experience. We also house what we call unique works, e.g. paintings and sculptures. Through our circle of contacts of art scenes, collectors, and global partners, we can help you find what you are looking for. At our online shop abovegallery.se, you will find graphic prints and photos, as well as unique works. At our showroom at Sigtunagatan 7 in Stockholm, you can as per usual make an appointment to come and look at works of art, purchase them on the spot, or pick up orders.

Anders Kumlien has worked for one of Sweden's largest galleries for contemporary art, where he has held roles such as marketing director, graphical director, and art technician. He holds long-term experiences within brand development, graphic design, and communications, and has previously worked for Stockholms Auktionsverk (Stockholm Auction House), among other galleries. He is also an artist (now only during rare occasions, when there's time to spare) whose artistic talents can truly be said to be found in his blood, having had art passed down several branches of his family tree.

– Above Gallery is about spreading Swedish art out to Sweden. We sell and rent out works of art to private individuals as well as businesses, Anders concludes.
